GOVEMBER

Welcome to Go-vember! Every year we take the month of November to focus on global missions and invite students not merely to wait for people to ask them about the gospel, but consider taking the initiative to go on mission (Matt 28:19). We highlight summer missions to 35 stateside and 75 global locations, which foster immersive discipleship and evangelism experiences.

Students often struggle to imagine what these trips feel like, so at GW we hosted a Go-vember Friday where we trained students about how to initiate spiritual convos and share the gospel. 15 students showed up! For GW sophomore, Isa, it was her first time sharing, so David joined her. They got into a conversation with two friends, one from an atheistic home who was open to God. The other from a strict catholic home who said she was now agnostic.

Two people from opposite spiritual backgrounds, both uncertain of God's relevance (let alone existence) who said their meaning and purpose in life was to live for themselves. By the end of the conversation they thanked us several times and remarked, "Wow, I can see why believing in Christianity is so stable. I need to think about this." That day 18 students heard the gospel. Pray for opportunities to meet these students again and for the light of the gospel to break through (Col 1:13).

COFFEY EXPECTATIONS

Exciting news! Our Coffey family is adding another cup; we are expecting a baby girl early in March. Preparations are well underway. Pray for the baby's and Ashley's health through the process as Ashley experiences persistent morning sickness and limited physical energy.
